Convention tales:

I was at the International Convention in Atlanta I in 2015. One of our friends from our home group was speaking on the Armed Forces panel so we all showed up to support him. A young man came in late and sat next to me. After the panel finished, we naturally introduced ourselves. It turns out, the man was the very young son of the man who was the first to hire me for a job I didn't deserve. I owed so much gratitude towards that man, and here was his grown son, several years sober, and I got to see the hands of A.A. that were always there. That is why the A.A. International should not be missed!
